Our Farms

Clean air. Rolling hills. Open skies. That's the environment we believe animals deserve, and which we're committed to preserving at True Story.

Eating meat should feel good.

We believe in integrity, transparency, quality and raising our animals with respect: without antibiotics, with room to roam, and with care for the land and the people.

SAUDER'S EGGS

WHY SAUDER'S EGGS ARE THE PERFECT FIT FOR YOUR SHELVES

What began as a humble door-to-door egg business during the Great Depression has grown into one of the nation's top egg wholesalers. What started as a single operation has expanded to five state-of-the-art grading and processing facilities in three states, enabling Sauder's to provide unmatched consistency and freshness.

MICROBIAL MAGIC

HEX Ferments uses the traditional method of fermentation to preserve and transform local, organic, and scrupulously-sourced ingredients into nourishing foods - presently: unique sauerkrauts, kimchi, seasonal ferments, and kombucha tea. Fermented foods are in every culture and for thousands of years have been an effective way to preserve the harvest and make food more digestible while detoxifying and enhancing nutrients. The effect of fermentation transforms foods to make flavors more complex, while adding naturally occurring probiotics to your diet.

TRADITIONALLY FERMENTED

Since 2013, HEX Ferments has been crafting vibrant, living foods using traditional lacto-fermentation methods and thoughtfully sourced ingredients. We work closely with growers, celebrating the harvest while supporting a more resilient food system.

Our ferments are never pasteurized or made with vinegar. Instead, we let naturally occurring microbes do their work, transforming fresh vegetables into complex, flavorful foods teeming with live cultures and organic acids. We don't ferment in plastic and we package in glass, honoring both the integrity of the ingredients and our commitment to thoughtful, sustainable practices.

Feed your microbiome.
