

MAY 8 - MAY 15, 2026

NEW CROP ORGANIC GRAPES

New crop Mexican volume on Organic Grapes is coming on strong in early May on all colors. Get ready to stock your shelves back up on Organic Red (Flame), Green (Prime), and Black (Summer Royal) Seedless Grapes!

There will also be some harvest starting in the Coachella desert growing region of California in May.

Pricing is starting at more affordable than the Southern Hemisphere Organic Grapes were priced at earlier this year and price points will improve later in may and early June.

OG STONE FRUIT

It's time for California stone fruit!

Organic Yellow Peaches are now available in 12/2 lb pouches, volume-filled value boxes, and single layer euro bulk boxes.

BACK IN SEASON! The first California Organic Yellow Nectarines of the season are scheduled to arrive this weekend in volume-filled value boxes as well as pouch bags and single layer euro bulk boxes.

The first California Organic White Nectarines, White Peaches, Plums, and Pluots will be in stock around 5/14.

California Organic Apricots will be in season through limited and sporadic throughout May.

OG BERRIES

GOOD NEWS! Organic Blackberries continue to flush in volume and be very promotable from Mexico. Quality has been excellent with great-tasting fruit. Pricing will be favorable, leading to great retail price opportunities!

GOOD NEWS! Organic Blueberries are promotable from the Southeast, Peru, and California. on 12/1pt and 8/18oz packs. This is the last of the Peruvian supplies for the summer, and quality continues to be strong. California volume is beginning to ramp up as well. Quality has been excellent.

NOTE: Driscoll's Organic Sweetest Batch Blueberries are available, but volume is low. Some possible shorts and out of stocks are expected.

GOOD NEWS! Organic Raspberries will be promotable as Mexico volume increases. Quality has been excellent, and volume should be strong.

NOTE: Organic Strawberries continue to be tight as plants begin to rebound from weather issues. Growers are hoping fields improve in mid-May and volume starts to increase for the back half of the month. Higher pricing and limited supplies are expected in mid-May. Quality has been nice.

OG TOMATOES

GOOD NEWS! Organic Beefsteak and Cluster Tomatoes are seeing plentiful availability with promotable pricing and exceptional quality across the category. After an extended stretch of elevated markets and tighter supply, mid-May is presenting strong opportunities!

NOTE: Organic Roma Tomatoes are continuing to improve as availability gradually builds back into the market. Pricing has started to ease from extreme levels. Overall conditions are moving in a positive direction.

Organic Snacking Tomatoes continue to stabilize across the category, with strong quality supporting overall conditions. Availability is improving on Organic Grape Tomatoes alongside steady Organic Cherry Tomato supply.

NOTE: Organic Medley Tomato varieties unfortunately still struggle with limited availability.

BACK IN SEASON! Organic Cantaloupe and Organic Honeydew prices are dropping as Mexico is coming on strong and driving cost down, forcing Southern California to compete.

OG MANGOES

OUTLOOK! Organic Mango volumes have been off pace compared to years past, and unfortunately that trend is forecasted to remain true. As the season moves north in Mexico's growing regions, less volume will be available, making for an interesting summer in terms of supply for the "world's most popular" fruit.

OG CORN

NOTE: Organic Corn from Florida has experienced struggles due to worm damage in the field. California will remain as a steady supply, but please note higher retail prices.

OG MINI POTATOES

BACK IN SEASON! Tasteful Selections Organic Mini Potatoes are getting rolling again in early May.

NOTE: "Little Potato" bagged Organic Mini Potatoes season ended abruptly, and they will be out of that item through September.

OG WATERMELONS

BACK IN SEASON! Organic Seedless Watermelons from California and Florida have begun harvests and will be in stock around 5/14. Freight rates are considerably higher this year due to fuel which will impact price points.

GOOD NEWS! Organic Mini Seedless Watermelons are in full swing from California as their season has started off strong in supply.

OG CELERY

ALERT! The industry-wide gap on Organic Celery continues in California, with availability only coming from Mexico and extremely limited with quality not meeting standard. Supplies are priced at extreme levels as Yuma, AZ has come to an early close and transition gaps continue.

Santa Maria, CA is expected to have Organic Celery supplies available as early as mid-May, although volume will be limited and the region is only expected to provide a four-week bridge during the celery transition before Salinas is fully up and running in the first week of June. Salinas remains on target to start as planned, with new crown quality looking strong.

OG LOCAL VEG

LOCAL spring weather continues to push on new crops in New Jersey from Flaim Farms. The following LOCAL Organic Veg items are available:

OG LETTUCE

New Jersey is in steady production on LOCAL Organic Red and Green Leaf Lettuce, Organic Romaine, and Organic Red and Green Butter Lettuces.

ALERT! West Coast Organic Leaf Lettuce and Organic Romaine Hearts are firming up due to weather challenges amidst transition. Pricing will begin to rise significantly on Organic Romaine Hearts in the short term due to sourcing solely from California.

OG PEPPERS

Organic Color Bell Peppers continue to see stable availability, though pricing remains elevated and quality has been fair across available products.

Holland production tapered off quickly, while Mexico continues to help support supply until Canadian production begins ramping up through mid to late May. Four Seasons will be filling in on Organic Cabbages and Organic Parsleys from New Jersey and California.

Lady Moon will begin their LOCAL Pennsylvania growing season in the coming weeks.

OG LEMONS

ALERT! As the season winds down, Organic Lemons have very few shippers left with California fruit.

New crop Argentina will enter the marketplace in mid-May (week 20). Elevated prices are expected into June.

OG BROCCOLI & CAULIFLOWER

Organic Broccoli has improved as East Coast production from North Carolina ramps up and alleviates pressure seen out West with limited availability, especially on Organic Broccoli Crowns.

ALERT! Prices remain elevated and very limited on Organic Cauliflower. Weather has not been favorable on Organic Cauliflower. Another few weeks of elevated markets and tight availability are expected.

NOTE: The transition into Salinas, combined with early harvesting, has created a supply gap that will take another week to recover from out West, impacting commodities such as Organic Broccoli Rabe.

NOTE: Organic Parsnips are winding down. A supply gap is expected starting early May.

NOTE: Organic Radicchio has been tight in supply from California.

OTHER STORIES

ALERT! Organic Basil supplies will be limited for May due to packers/importers losing significant supply from farms in South America that recently lost their organic certification. .5oz, 2oz, and 3oz packs will have lower fill-rates this month.

NOTE: Organic Artichoke yields have fallen, with 12 ct sizing becoming very limited. Supply is expected to shift toward mixed sizing (12-24 ct) as availability tightens and the pricing firms over the coming weeks.

Import Mini Seedless Watermelons from Mexico and Honduras are finishing up for their season. Opportunities from Florida and California are available until product in Arizona begins towards late May.

CV TOMATOES

Beefsteak and Cluster Tomatoes are producing improved availability alongside outstanding quality as supply stabilizes during mid-May. Pricing on Cluster Tomatoes has continued to ease, while Beefsteak prices are now beginning to show improvement as well. While supply is still not considered plentiful, volume has improved enough to help relieve some of the recent market pressure. While some inconsistency and elevated year-over-year pricing are still expected through May and June, the market has started to normalize compared to the extreme conditions seen over the last month.

Roma and Round Tomatoes are showing improved availability as better supply volume from both Mexico and Florida continues to enter the market. While overall supply is still considered limited, pricing has eased and availability has become more consistent compared to recent weeks. Quality remains decent to average across available product. Market conditions still lack full stability, though overall conditions have improved significantly from where the category stood earlier this spring.

CV STONE FRUIT

California Apricots are now in good supply from California.

California Yellow and White Peach pricing has eased, and sizing is improving. It's time to promote these beauties!

Strawberry production is slowly beginning to rebound as plant health begins to improve and Mother's Day demand eases. Prices will be steady as production rebounds before easing back off towards late May. Quality has improved and has been sharp with nice big berries arriving.

CV CITRUS

California Mandarins are still in strong production. Imports are becoming very tight in early May as Morocco is finishing up and Peru is only slowly getting started.

Navel Oranges, Blood Oranges, Minneola Oranges, and Heirloom Navel Oranges are still in good supply from California. Sumo Citrus, Cara Cara Oranges, and Meyer Lemons have finished for the season.

Limes are beginning to ease across Mexico and other growing regions post-Cinco de Mayo holiday. Increased availability and lighter demand will continue to help stabilize this market.

CV SWEETEST BATCH BERRIES

Driscoll's Sweetest Batch Blackberries should continue to be available with excellent eating quality fruit.

Driscoll's Sweetest Batch Blueberries remain available, and quality has been excellent from Baja, Mexico.

Driscoll's Sweetest Batch Raspberries continues to be available, and fruit is eating excellent!

Sweetest Batch Strawberries from Driscoll's are more limited for mid-May but will rebound later in the month.

CV ASPARAGUS

Overall Asparagus remains steady, but the market continues to hold at premium levels.

LOCAL 28 lb Asparagus from DE and NJ continues to provide the better value option at retail, with strong quality being seen upon arrivals.

NOTE: Jumbo Asparagus (import only) continues to hold at a high pricing level, with larger sizing remaining a challenge. Recent arrivals were cut back, and incoming product has been prorated, keeping availability tight in the near term.

CV CELERY

ALERT! Celery continues to tighten as the desert season winds down and Oxnard, CA becomes the primary growing region. Demand is currently exceeding supply, with additional pressure coming from quality concerns such as blight, disease pressure, and very low yields during the transition. Prices are expected to remain elevated and continue rising in the near term.

CV MELONS

Duclinea brand Tuscan Cantaloupes are now in season from Arizona!

GOOD NEWS! Multiple regions are shipping Cantaloupes and Honeydews currently. Imports are providing value options compared to Mexico and California, as freight is driving the cost up when coming back to the East Coast.

CV GREENHOUSE CUCUMBERS

GOOD NEWS! Mini and Euro Cucumbers continue to see plentiful availability with aggressive, promotable pricing across the category. Quality remains strong, and ideal growing conditions continue to support the market.

CV GRAPES

CV GREENHOUSE PEPPERS

Color Bell Peppers continue to see stable availability, despite earlier concerns that supply would tighten more aggressively during this stretch of the season. Pricing has remained around average levels with only modest pressure, while quality continues to be good across the category. Gradual improvement is expected closer toward June.

CV LETTUCE

LOCAL Red, Green Leaf, and Romaine are in steady production at the start of the New Jersey season from Flaim Farms and Nardelli. Excellent opportunity to promote New Jersey product as West Coast availability and production continues to endure challenges during transition.

ALERT! West Coast weather is not providing favorable growing conditions, which continues to delay a positive outlook. Iceberg Lettuce prices are extremely high!

ALERT! Romaine Hearts are beginning to follow the same upward trend already being seen on Iceberg, and both will hold a high market due to rising costs for the next few weeks until Salinas is in steady supply.

CV SALADS

ALERT! Iceberg Lettuce and Romaine Hearts supplies are tightening due to weather and disease issues, with prorates beginning to surface from Dole, Taylor, and Fresh Express on select Salad SKUs that include Iceberg.

ALERT! Fill-rates will be poor for early and mid May for Garden Salads, Shredded Iceberg, and similar items. Foodservice Lettuce packs will have immediate price increases too.

NOTE: Due to the critically low supplies of Iceberg Lettuce, Bonduelle has obtained USDA approval to temporarily deviate from their ingredient list on their Bistro Bowls to substitute Romaine Lettuce for Iceberg as needed to continue production in May.

CV CAULIFLOWER & BROCCOLI

Broccoli has improved as East Coast production from North Carolina ramps up and alleviates pressure seen out West with limited availability there.

ALERT! Pricing remains elevated on Cauliflower, which continues to be limited. Weather has not been favorable on Cauliflower. Another few weeks of elevated markets and tight availability are expected.

NOTE: The desert transition into Salinas, combined with early harvesting, has created a supply gap that will take a few weeks to recover from out West, impacting commodities such as Broccoli Rabe and Sweet Baby Broccoli.

OTHER STORIES

Pineapple supplies have rebounded just a bit for mid-May. Pricing remains elevated, but Four Seasons does have great supplies. Look to promote 7 ct fruit over the remainder of May!

Del Monte's HoneyGlow Pineapples will be in good supply for mid-May.

Pomegranates remain steady from Peru and are available in a single-layer 6/8 ct option.

Black Mission Figs from Peru have been rolling, and mid-May should be steady right up until California's early season crop is available. These are available in 12/8 oz clamshell.

Carrots from California are slowly improving but still are experiencing product limits from vendors. Bakersfield, California crop starts mid-May, in which full availability should return.

Green Bean supply remains adequate, but pricing has increased as a number of growers finish up in Florida around Lake Okeechobee. Quality remains good.

Cucumbers, Peppers, and Green and Yellow Squash have all jumped up in pricing in early May. This increase is expected to be temporary, as incoming volume from Georgia should push markets back down later in May.
